ABOUT JSOU

History

In September 2000, under the leadership of the United States Special Operations Command (USSOCOM) Commander, Army General Peter Schoomaker, the Joint Special Operations University (JSOU) was established as an institution of higher learning. Since its founding, JSOU has strived to provide the highest quality of joint special operations forces (SOF) leadership education at both the operational and strategic levels. JSOU provides resident, mobile education team (MET), distance learning (DL), and professional military education (PME) courses to the joint SOF community. University faculty members also support senior and intermediate-level PME programs and the emerging educational requirements of numerous U.S., interagency, and international organizations.

Mission

The mission of JSOU is to prepare SOF to shape the future strategic environment by providing specialized joint PME, developing SOF-specific undergraduate and graduate-level academic programs, and by fostering special operations research, analysis, and outreach in support of USSOCOM objectives.

Vision

A globally recognized academic institution of higher learning dedicated to enhancing special operations knowledge and its application. The vision is achieved by maintaining the highest standards of an accredited academic institution, delivering high-quality and relevant instruction, when and where needed, retaining a highly credentialed faculty proficient in multiple teaching methods, and by rapidly adapting to a changing global environment. The result is a career-long framework of joint SOF education that, when combined with Service provided educational opportunities, significantly improves the intellectual competence of the force required to successfully perform current and future special operations missions.

Students are considered to be at their place of duty/work, therefore, they are expected to be on time and attend 100 percent of the course unless the instructor of record grants an exception. Exceptions are approved on a case-by-case basis and the instructor of record will determine if the student meets graduation requirements. Sick leave may be authorized when a hospital/doctor certifies a student's absence from class for incapacitation due to illness or injury. It is the student's responsibility to notify the instructor of record of any medical condition that will prevent them from attending the class. Extended absences could result in dismissal from the course.

Transcripts

Student transcripts are available upon request. The information reflected on the student transcript represents the data contained in the student information system regarding the student's course completions. Official and unofficial transcripts encompass courses taken at JSOU since the establishment of JSOU at MacDill AFB in fiscal year (FY) 2011. If a student completed a course before FY11, a transcript might not be available as the records may no longer exist. JSOU can only guarantee transcripts for courses taken since FY11; however, JSOU will attempt to assist students in determining JSOU course prior to FY11.

The Student Transcript Request Form is available on the JSOU website at: https://www.socom.mil/JSOU/Documents/Transcript\_Request.pdf. JSOU accepts requests for transcripts delivered through official mail or email. JSOU will not release a student transcript to a third party without the consent of the student. Student transcripts will display all courses attempted and completed.

Course Materials

The instructor of record will issue all required course materials on the first day of class.

Ethical and Professional Behavior

Students are expected to adhere to the ethical and professional standards associated with their professional duties (both military and civilian) and JSOU's academic standards. Students found in violation of academic and/or professional misconduct will be subject to discipline from the university and their chain of command.

Copyright/Plagiarism

Plagiarism entails appropriating the literary composition of another, parts or passages of their writings, and/or the ideas or language of the same and intending to pass them off as the product of one's mind. An example is copying verbatim, without quotation marks, with the intent to claim the material as one's work without giving credit to the author. The intent is established based on consideration of all circumstances and evidence presented. The correct method for giving credit to a source in a written work is to use quotation marks and an accompanying footnote or citation. In the case of oral presentations, credit must be given for using or paraphrasing direct quotes. Instructors will provide students with the appropriate style guide for citing research sources.

Americans with Disabilities Act Policy

JSOU fully supports and complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) Policy. We endeavor to provide students, employees, and the community an opportunity for success with as few deterrents possible. We strive to create a welcoming environment and will work in good faith to provide reasonable accommodations for students with special needs.

Students are encouraged to make their instructors aware of any special accommodations they may require to be successful in their classes. Instructors have the authority to make reasonable accommodations in their classrooms.

Prospective students are encouraged to contact the Admissions Department if assistance is required in applying for admission or registering for courses.

Grievance Procedures

Students are encouraged to discuss any grievances they may have regarding grading, course requirements, or instructional content with the responsible faculty member, within three days of the occurrence of the issue. The student should bring all supporting materials (handouts, text, class notes, etc.) to this informal meeting and should be prepared to openly discuss all aspects of the grievance. In the event this meeting does not resolve the issue, the student is encouraged to schedule an appointment with the dean of academics. During this meeting, the student must present, in writing, all issues in question. To aid the dean of academics in rendering a fair and equitable decision, the student should be prepared to provide all supporting materials. The appeal/grievance should include information regarding the action the student is appealing and any related mitigating circumstances. The dean of academics will act on all student grievances and provide a written response to the student within ten business days of receipt of the written request.

Upon following the above procedures, if the student is not satisfied with the decision by the JSOU dean of academics, the student may elect to file a written grievance with the Accrediting Council for Continuing Education and Training (ACCET). The grievance should include all information deemed pertinent for final disposition of the matter. ACCET can be contacted at 1722 N. Street NW, Washington, DC. 20036. Telephone: (202) 955-1113. Information/web-site: www.accet.org.

Dress Code

For all courses, military students may wear any official uniform combination, to include any combination of dress uniform, flight suits, or battle dress uniform. Civilian personnel should wear conservative, professional casual attire (slacks, open collar shirts, dresses, etc.). ## Articulation Agreements and Academic Partnerships

In order to facilitate the transfer of creditable college coursework taken at JSOU to degree-granting institutions, JSOU has formal arrangements with regionally accredited colleges and universities to include Saint Leo University, Excelsior College, Norwich University, and the University of Charleston (WV). Articulation agreements are expected to be made with additional schools during the 2017 academic year. Check the JSOU website or with the Academic Resource Center to obtain the most recent list of schools and agreements. Each of these schools has matched required courses in specific degree programs they offer to equivalent courses given by JSOU. These agreements between academic institutions can expedite degree completion substantially, and students are encouraged to investigate degree options offered through these agreements.
